

Publish open access with ECS Plus

If your institution is an ECS Plus subscriber, you are entitled to unlimited open access publishing in The Electrochemical Society (ECS) journals for free. Follow these simple steps to publish your articles with ECS Plus and take advantage of this valuable opportunity to broaden the reach of your research.

Check if your institution is a member here: bit.ly/ECSPlus No need for checking. Eawag, Empa, PSI & PSI are members.

Step one

When you submit your article to an ECS journal, you'll be asked if you wish to publish open access. Select 'Yes'

* Do you wish to publish your paper as Open Access? <input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes, I/we wish to publish this paper as Open Access. <input type="radio"/> No, I/we DO NOT wish to publish this paper as Open Access.

Use this handy link to see if you're eligible

- ECS Plus: You are affiliated with an organization that holds a current ECS Plus subscription (click HERE for a list of current ECS Plus subscribing institutions).

Step two

Select 'ECS Plus' and name your institution in the supporting information box

<input checked="" type="radio"/> ECS Plus: I belong to an ECS Plus subscribing institution and am therefore entitled to claim an Article Credit, which waives the Article Processing Charge, for this article to be published as Open Access at no charge to me.	<input type="text" value="Your University"/>
--	--

You can find out more about the publications of The Electrochemical Society at: iopscience.iop.org/partner/ecs

For more information about ECS or ECS Plus contact us at publications@electrochem.org